BIG MAIN BURSTS AND BRONX IS DRY FOR SIXTEEN HOURS

Bakeries, Saloons and Thousands of Families Suffer From Water Famine.

A water famine existed in Williams-bridge, Bedford Park, University Heights, Sedgwick Heights and the western part of the Bronx generally, from 7 o'clock last night until noon to-day owing to the breaking of a big feed pipe running from the Williamsbridge reservoir, It was an anxious period for the firemen of the district which is filled with wooden buildings. The feed pipe, 25 inches in diamater runs from the reservoir into Van Cortinant avenue and connects with the mains supplying the Bronx district lying mains supplying the Bronx district lying along the Hariem River. Pressure on the pipes forced it apart at 7 o'clock last night at a point in Van Cortlandt avenue near Mosholu Parkway.

An automobile party discovered the break half an hour later and notified the police at Bronx Park. The automobite narrowly missed going into a hole twenty feet square that had been torn in the pavement by the rushing water from the pipe.

It was an hour after the report was made to the police before the Water Department had any men on the scene. In order to repair the break it was A.
